Description of the Unit:

This unit analyses the major theoretical developments in the production and construction of literature across history. As such, it concentrates on the most significant and innovative literary and cultural movements pertaining to a range of literary texts. The unit develops an understanding of how literary texts may be seen as both products of history and as a means for exploring human experience in all its diversity. It further considers how each major literary movement signalled a significant break with past traditions, world views and values, and explores the ways in which these schisms affected the form and content of literature.

Grade Scheme: Graded (HD, D, C, P, MF, F, XF)

Work Experience:

No work experience

Placement Component: No

Supplementary Assessment: Yes

Where supplementary assessment is available a student must have failed overall in the Unit but gained a final mark of 45 per cent or above, has completed all major assessment tasks (including all sub-components where a task has multiple parts) as specified in the Unit Description and is not eligible for any other form of supplementary assessment
