Description of the Course :

Tertiary Teacher as a Researcher and Practitioner (EDGCT5010) as the final course, highlights the connection and influence of the Scholarship of Learning and Teaching (SoLT) to address challenges experienced by tertiary teachers and provide avenues to enhance learning and teaching practices in higher education. The topics explored in this course include:

- valuing the importance of SoLT as a lens through which to explore particular learning and teaching issues arising at the personal, faculty, institutional and sector levels.
- highlighting the significance and impact of evidence-based research projects to the genealogical development of tertiary education practices
- formulating effective methods of reviewing academic literature to conduct thematic analyses
- undertake an inquiry project focused on addressing a pervasive learning and teaching concern using SoLT
- prioritizing and contributing to the enhancement and advancement of tertiary pedagogical practices via research-based investigations

This course will focus on using learning and teaching scholarship to guide, support and develop evidence-based practices through inquiry-based and collaborative learning, evidence-based approaches, authentic application and reflective practice in the higher education sector.

Learning Outcomes:

Knowledge:

- K1. Acquire contextual understanding of the Scholarship of Learning and Teaching (SoLT) in relation to the complex and contested environments in which tertiary teachers operate
- K2. Develop comprehension of foundational research skills and concepts required to conduct critical inquiry-based investigations of educational research

Skills:

- S1. Apply reflective pedagogy to evaluate critically various approaches to learning and teaching in the tertiary environment
- S2. Employ research-based skills to analyze peer-reviewed academic literature from a scholarly perspective and construct thematic analyses

Application of knowledge and skills:

- A1. Evaluate scholarly activities to explain reflexively the contribution of Scholarship of Learning and Teaching (SoLT)-based research practices to explorations of learning and teaching practices
- A2. Justify the contemporary relevance of particular learning and teaching practices identified via reflective and literary analyses

Course Content:

In a tertiary education context:

- Value the importance of SoLT as a lens through which to explore particular learning and teaching issues arising at the personal, faculty, institutional and sector levels.
- Highlight the significance and impact of evidence-based research projects to the genealogical development of tertiary education practices
- Formulate effective methods of reviewing academic literature to conduct thematic analyses
- Undertake an inquiry project focused on addressing a pervasive learning and teaching concern using SoLT
- Prioritise and contribute to the enhancement and advancement of tertiary pedagogical practices via research-based investigations

Values:

- V1. Value the importance of documenting, monitoring and evaluating learning and teaching performance
- V2. Commitment to continual professional improvement as a tertiary educator/practitioner/researcher
