ASCED:	070303

Description of the Course:

This is the first of two courses, which requires candidates to bring together the sum total of the learning from their specialisation studies to engage in an extended process of inquiry in response to an existing problem or issue within their educational context. Project outcomes should typically have clear recommendations for practice changes/improvements in the student's professional context. Candidates are expected to identify, develop and present a proposal for a small small-scale study project. The process of inquiry is carefully planned to enable candidates to find a possible solution to their identified problem or greater understanding of the issue. Students professional inquiries are able to select from the following possible methodologies: 1. Survey Research; 2. Case Study; 3. Interview/focus group; 4. Document analysis; 5. Quantitative analysis of de-identified data; 6. Systematic/ scoping/thematic review* (*with faculty permission)

Graduate Attributes

The Federation University Federation graduate attributes (GA) are entrenched in the Higher Education Graduate Attributes Policy (LT1228). FedUni graduates develop these graduate attributes through their engagement in explicit learning and teaching and assessment tasks that are embedded in all FedUni programs. Graduate attribute attainment typically follows an incremental development process mapped through program progression. One or more graduate attributes must be evident in the specified learning outcomes and assessment for each FedUni course, and all attributes must be directly assessed in each program
