Description of the Course:
The course is designed for students who are interested in learning about legal ideas and institutions, and comparative approaches to justice. It explores the ever-changing relationship between law and society, focusing on the Australian courts primarily criminal, but also civil in an international context. It will consider law making, regulation and interpretation of statutes and regulations; examine the role of the criminal courts in the justice system; contrast the consensus theory and the conflict theory of the functions of the criminal courts; analyse the adversarial and the inquisitorial systems of criminal courts in an international context; and explore the major issues and controversies facing the courts in Australia. Indigenous perspectives concerning interaction of indigenous communities will be imbedded into this course. The course will challenge students to consider whether courts in Australia are fair, whether justice in the courts is the same for all, and whether the courts serve a utilitarian purpose for society.
